THE BOARD OF REGISTRATION for Ohio county met yesterday as per an-nouncement, and after the transaction of such business as was brought before it, adjourned.

THE MEETING of Stockholders in the Skatting Park Association, did not take place yesterday, owing to the want of a quorum. The concern will therefore run on under the present officers until quorum of stockholders can be got YESTARDAY was occupied by the force engaged in laying the water pipes, in putting down as stop-cook at the intersection of Main and Monroe streets. The ditch has been dug half way down the street between Monroe and Quincy. The work, we hope, will progress rapidly until the last piece of pipe is laid and covered up.

WE still have a few copies of our issue yesterday, containing the Hon. John Bingham's great speech at the Cour-ouse. No better document can be House. No better document can be circulated among the people. It is one of the ablest expositions of the great issue of the day that has been present-ed to the people during the present can-vass, and cannot fall to do great good for the Union cause.

"DUTCH HENRY," the gentleman caught in the grocery of W. T. Chambers, on Sunday morning last, is still in jail. Why he did not receive a hearing yesterday, we are not precisely able to state. We understand, however, that there is some doubt existing whether be can be committed for

CIRCUIT COURT.—This Court met yesterday at 9 o'clock a. m., Judge Caldwell presiding. The case of Patsey Brannon, charged with committing a rape upon the person of Rebecca Burkhardt, was proceeded with, and continued until this morning at nine colock. o'clock. Some civil business, of no public in-terest, was transacted, and the Court adjourned until this morning at 9 o'clock.

WE are pleased to announce that the Wheeling Classical Academy will be re-opened on Monday next. While we deeply regret the loss of its former principal, Prof. Harding, who now co-cupies the chair of mathematics in Bethany College, we take great pleasure in recommending Mr. A. N. Hanna, who succeeds him, and who comes very well recommended. We trust that the former patrons of the schools will find him a worthy successor of Mr. Harding, whose ability as a teacher needs no comment. Mr. Hanna has had some experience in teaching, and has been eminently successful, both as an instructor and as a disciplinarian. as a disciplinarian.

BARNUM's LECTURE.—At Washington fall, last night, Mr. P. T. Barnum, the enowned showman, lectured on the 'Art of Money Getting." The distinguished gentieman was introduced by enterprising and efficient principal of the Wheeling Business College, Mr. reasy, in a few happy sentences. He ben proceeded with remarks which, hen proceeded with remarks which, while making no particular attempt at loquence, were often clothed in the inest language, and always brimming yer with the shrewdest practical sense. In fact, Mr. Barnum knows how to roduced lively demonstrations eclation from the audience. dvice to advertise extensively ticularly good.

ILLEGITIMATE BUSINESS.—One of the chief recommendations of Wheeling is the unfalling promptness with which any infraction of her laws is visited with the prescribed punishment. Let a fight take place in the remotest quarter of the city, or a squabble among the gentler sex, and the indefatigable energy of our police is sure to bring the offenders up before the Police Court. Henry Felsing, keeper of a salcon, on Market Square, may have entertained the idea that he could violate with imputing the ordinance against the selling.

Market Square, may have entertained the idea that be could violate with impunity the ordinance against the selling of liquors on Sunday, but how greatly he was mistaken, he probably fully realized, when an officer showed him a warrant for his arrest for selling liquor on last Sabbath, and when, in consequence, he confessed judgment and paid the penalty of ten dollars and costs.

Synon of Wheeling resumed its sessions on Monday morning. A judicial case from the Presbytery of New Lisbon was remanded back to that Presbytery for a new Treabytery of New Lisbon was remanded back to that Presbytery for a new Treabytery of New Lisbon was remanded back to that Presbytery for a new Treabytery, embracing the counties of the Pan-Handhe and Wetzel, in West Virginia. A paper, making arrangements for the Contenury celebration of the introduction of Presby terlanism in this region, was adopted. The Presbyteries were directed to hold conventions to make arrangements for promoting a general revival of religion in the bounds of the Synod. Various other items of regular business were transacted. An interesting devotional meeting was held on last night, in which lev. Wm. Speak and the poet of the Seasons was an unreasonable fellow to attempt to impose such nonsense upon us.—Geo.

Acheson entered in an excited state, and impoired of him if he had ever known him (Mr. A.) to do anything that was a sort of predict that he nover had from his shildhoods seriliest years. This was a sort of predictionary skirmish indulged in by Mr. A. The question, although ostensibly directed to Mr. H., was really intended for Mr. Joseph Hively, who sat near by industriously making stogles, as that gentleman discovered immediately, when Mr. A. turned full upon him and overwhelmed him with epithets highly derogatory to his character as a gentleman and a scholar.

Mr. A.'s ardor being now at a white heat, he went furiously at Mr. H. and successed in inflicting a terrible scratch upon his neck. But an end must come to all things, and Mr. A. found himself, yesterday morning, in the Polica Court, a victim to his own passions and the law, to the extent of ten dollars and costs.

For this difficulty, Martin Shelly, the uncle, Tom Shelley, the nephew. Catherine Ryan, the daughter, and Thomas Ryan, the husband of Catherine, were all before Judge Good, yesterday morning, at the police court. The witnesses, who gave in their testimony, were numerous, and related the facts of the case with a defightful discoraiveness, which has scarcely a parallel in the annals of policedom. From them we gleaned the following:

Tom, and a young Teuton unable to speak English, are at a stable belonging to a gentleman in whose employ. Tom is; they leave the stable and go towards Tom's house, through analley. Through this byway Tom has often gone before without accident or mischance of any kind. WE call attention to the advertisement of the Franklin Insurance Company in another column of to-day's paper. The Franklin is one of the best and safest institutions in this or any and salest institutions in this or any other city of the contrary. It has been exceedingly well managed, and pos-sesses to-day, in addition to its capital stock of one hundred and fifty thou-sand dollars, an additional reserve of sixty thousand accumulated earnings.

Great Multiplexal Exhibition.—
We invite attention to the advertisement of Prof. Genther's great "Multiplexal Exhibition," which will be given on Thursday and Friday nights, at Washington Hall, for the benefit of the Zaue Street M. E. Church. This exhibition will be something entirely unique, presenting a series of combinations, dissolving views, scriptural seenes, Grecian statuary, &c., which has never been surpassed in this country. We advise all to attend, and assist the Zane Street M. E. Church.

River News.—The river was falling yesterday, with thirteen feet of waterin the channel.

Several tow-boats, with barges full of coal, passed down from Pittsburg. The steamer Spray passed up.

The regular packets for to-day, are the Express, for Parkersburg, at 11 A. M.; James Rees, for Sunfah, at 3 P. M.; Henry Logan, for Steubenville, at 2½ P. M.; Zanesville, for Bellaire, at 7 and 10 A. M., and 3 P. M.; and Potomac, for Cincinnati, at 5 P. M.
